Australia can be a very expensive country to visit. If you aren't careful, you'll blow through your entire budget in no time as all those big fun activities like diving the Great Barrier Reef, eating out, and transportation all add up fast. Fortunately, there are lots of ways to save in this country thanks to all the backpackers who visit! Here are some ways to save money when you visit Australia:

Drink goon (box wine) – Goon is infamous on the Australian backpacker hostel trail. This cheap box of wine is the best way to drink, get a buzz, and save a lot of money at the same time. Drink this before you go out and save on spending money at the bar.

Cook your own meals – The best way to reduce your costs is to cook as many meals as possible. Hostels and Airbnbs usually have kitchens and, while it's not glamorous, it will save you a ton of money!

Car share – Australia is a big country that can be expensive to get around. If you are traveling with friends, it's smart to buy a used car or campervan (or rent a new one from one of the many rental companies in the country) and split the costs of gas. You can also hitch a ride with other travelers using sites like Gumtree, Jayride, or hostel message boards.

Discover Portugal: A Traveller's Guide to an Unforgettable Journey 🇵🇹

Portugal is one of those countries that has something for everyone. From the colourful streets of Lisbon to the golden beaches of the Algarve, this beautiful destination combines history, delicious food and breathtaking landscapes. Whether you enjoy exploring historic cities, relaxing by the sea or discovering hidden places, Portugal is definitely worth visiting.

During my trip, I quickly fell in love with the country's relaxed atmosphere and friendly locals. Lisbon, the capital, is a fantastic place to start. You can wander through the narrow streets of the Alfama neighbourhood, admire the traditional buildings covered in colourful tiles and listen to live fado music in a small restaurant. Don't forget to try a pastel de nata, a delicious custard tart that is one of Portugal's most famous treats!
If you prefer a quieter atmosphere, head north to Porto. This charming city is famous for its riverside views, historic bridges and traditional architecture. You can walk along the Douro River, visit the local markets and enjoy the spectacular views from the Dom Luís I Bridge. Further south, the Algarve offers stunning beaches, impressive cliffs and picturesque fishing villages.

Here are three recommendations to make the most of your journey:
1. Explore beyond the main cities – Portugal has many beautiful small towns and villages. Visit places such as Sintra, with its colourful palaces, or Évora, known for its Roman history. You'll discover a different side of the country.
2. Taste the local food – Don't leave Portugal without trying grilled sardines, bacalhau (salted cod) and traditional pastries. Visit local restaurants rather than tourist hotspots to experience authentic Portuguese cuisine.

3. Travel slowly and use public transport – Trains and buses are useful for travelling between many popular destinations. Avoid trying to see everything in just a few days. Take your time, enjoy a coffee in a local café and leave room for unexpected discoveries.

Portugal is more than just a holiday destination. It's a place to experience new cultures, meet interesting people and create unforgettable memories. Pack your bags and get ready for an adventure!
